Dear Friend,

As you may know, one of the policy proposals circulating in Congress relates to a "cap and trade" program. Cap and trade involves capping the amount of pollutants any company can emit. If a company emits less than the allowed amount, it can sell the remaining pollutant allotment to a company that has emitted more than what is allowed.

I would like to know what you think about this proposal. Would you take a few moments to answer the questions below? I appreciate your time and the chance to learn about your views. (And for the results to the last survey on health care, please click here.)

Sincerely,

Daniel E. Lungren
Member of Congress
